PODCASTS— MR BAINBRIDGE SUGGESTS...

Move over, YouTube, there's a new game in town, and guess what? It's totally screen-free. That's right: Podcasts are growing in popularity with families and teens in particular! Check out these recommended listens below...

HARRY POTTER AND THE SACRED TEXT

What if the Harry Potter series was considered a holy book? While this can feel true to many Potter fans, this thoughtful, spiritual podcast actually puts it into practice. Each episode takes a chapter of a Harry Potter book and looks at it through the lens of a universal theme like love, hope, or destiny. You don't need to be religious to enjoy this delightful series, but it's not always spoiler-free, so make sure you've read the books ahead of time.

THE TWO PRINCES

This charming fantasy adventure will have listeners of all ages glued to the speakers until the very end. Two young princes seek to save their kingdoms and in the process face villainy, dragons, romance, and a magical forest full of danger. Though kissing happens, it is treated with sweetness and humour. A fairy tale for our times, this audio drama is a great introduction to the world of fiction podcasts.

SIX MINUTES

Six Minutes is another enthralling, suspenseful audio drama from the creators of the award-winning podcast The Unexplainable Disappearance of Mars Patel. Featuring a voice cast of real kids, each six-minute episode continues the story of an 11-year-old girl named Holiday who finds herself in the middle of a mystery adventure with no memory of where she came from. New updates are released twice a week, and you'll be counting down the minutes to see what happens next.

SCIENCE FRIDAY

Regularly one of the most popular science podcasts out there, "Sci Fri" (as it's known to its fans) has been informing and entertaining listeners for more than 20 years. For curious science lovers who want to learn about the latest discoveries, Ira Flatow's weekly discussions with experts and listeners are a must-listen.

PANTS ON FIRE

Pants on Fire is a silly game show where a tween gets to interview two grown-ups, one who's an expert on a topic and one who's lying. Hosts Deborah and L.I.S.A. (a sound effects "robot") guide the kid contestant through the interviews with some goofy jokes and question suggestions, but it's the kids that make this show worth checking out.

Here are some popular options for listening: Apple Podcasts- The original podcast app (only available for Apple iOS), Google Podcasts- Google's free podcast app for Android users, Kids Listen- An online service that features kid-friendly podcasts, Pocket Casts- A mobile app with a sleek, easy-to-use interface, SoundCloud- An online audio-streaming platform for podcasts as well as music (also an app), Spotify- The music-streaming platform has a whole dedicated section for podcasts.
